Malaga is a city full of beautiful corners like the Gibralfaro Castle, the Alameda Principal or the Paseo Marítimo de la Farola.

Being the capital of the Costa del Sol makes it one of the most important tourist destinations in Spain, due to its climate, its beaches and its cultural offer.

In addition, Malaga offers a varied gastronomic offer. The most known dish is the “pescaito frito” (fried fish), but also typical are rice “a la marinera”, monkfish with potatoes or casserole of noodles.
